

PARKER FUNERAL TO BE HELD TODAY

New York, May 11.—(P)—Alton B. Parker, farm boy who became a leading jurist and was democratic candidate for president in 1904 against Theodore Roosevelt, is to be buried tomorrow.

The former chief justice of New York state court of appeals died of a heart attack yesterday afternoon while driving through Central park on his way with his wife and a nurse to his country home at Beacon, N. Y.

He contracted a cold three days ago and because of his 74 years, his physician ordered him to wait until yesterday before leaving for his country home where he had planned a holiday with horseback riding and motor-boating.

Besides his widow, he is survived by

World Service Body Is Named By M. F. Bishops

Washington, May 11.—(P)—The board of bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church concluded its semi-annual meeting here today after appointing a committee of seven to put on a two-year campaign in the interest of the church's world service program and assigning bishops to hold fall conferences throughout the world.

The appointment of the committee on world service was the result of a week's deliberations on the church's foreign mission problem. Discussion brought out that while the needs in the foreign field have increased greatly, the church's revenues for this and domestic work have fallen from nearly $15,000,000 to $9,000,000 in a year.

The committee is made up of Bishops Birney of China, Blake of Persia, Miller of Mexico City, Fisher of India, Hughes of Chicago, Nicholson of Detroit and Henderson of Cincinnati.

The board sent a message of greeting to Bishop East, of Copenhagen, who is under a three months' sentence there on a charge of irregularities in soliciting charitable funds.

Conference dates and assignments of presiding bishops announced today included the following in southern states:

Bishop Berry, of Philadelphia, Florida conference, Jacksonville, Jan. 27; south Florida, February 3, no city selected.

Bishop Nicholson, Detroit, central Tennessee conference, Dollywood, Ala., October 13; Georgia conference, Epworth, Ga., October 20.

Bishop Jones, of New Orleans, Louisiana conference, Baton Rouge, October 27; Atlanta conference, Atlanta, December 28; South Carolina conference, Hartsville, S. C., December 3.

Bishop Clair, of Covington, Ky., Savannah conference, Waynesboro, Ga., October 21; central Alabama conference, Marion, Ala., November 3.

Bishop Thirkfield, of Chattanooga, North Carolina conference, October 27; city not yet selected.

Blue Ridge conference, October 18, city not yet selected; Holston conference, Chattanooga, Tenn., October 20.

Bishop Jones, of New Orleans, Tennessee conference, Nashville, Oct. 6.

JUDGE OVERRULES
CARROLL DEMURRER
IN BATHTUB PARTY
New York, May 11.—(P)—A demurrer to the indictment charging perjury against Earl Carroll, theatrical producer, in connection with grand jury investigation of his "bathtub" party, was denied by Federal Judge Goddard today.

The grand jury began an investigation after reports were published that at a party in Carroll's theater a nude chorus girl had dispensed liquor refreshment from a bathtub in which she was seated. Both Carroll and the girl, Joyce Hawley, were questioned by the grand jury as to the contents of the bathtub, which Carroll had previously announced was not wine as reported, but only near-beer. His indictment for perjury followed.

O'LEARY SCORES FEDERAL CONTROL

Washington, May 11.—(P)—Paternal control by the federal government over agriculture was assailed at the annual meeting of the United States Chamber of Commerce today, by its president, John W. O'Leary.

Mr. O'Leary also declared in his annual address that the field for trade associations had been greatly cleared by a recent decision of the supreme court so that there was little reason for them to transgress either the spirit or the letter of the law.

"Claims to the contrary notwithstanding," Mr. O'Leary said, "the destiny of American agriculture will be achieved through the policy of self-government and not as some would have us believe through paternal control by the federal government."

"The policy which would cripple agriculture cannot fail to exact from business extreme penalty. Our great markets are the farmers' markets. Our daily food is the production of those farmers. It is for the preservation of these markets, for the preservation of our food supply, for the eventual stability of success of agriculture that we turn our backs squarely against any proposal which would imperil the future of agriculture."

Sound Progress Made.
"We are encouraged by sound economic progress made during the past year toward agricultural relief," Mr. O'Leary asserted that new uses for farm products have been developed, new farm machinery invented and better railroad service rendered, all to assist agriculture.

Discussing trade associations, Mr. O'Leary asserted that there still is necessity for their further development.

"When the time comes that the various trades and industries shall find a legal method to coerce those members of their trade who do not live up to the letter and spirit of the properly established code of ethics, then we shall have little or no reason to fear government interference."

Julius H. Barnes, former president of the chamber, attributed America's economic supremacy to her possession and development of natural resources, habits of industry and stable, sound government.

INTERNATIONAL RADIO WEEK PLANNED IN 1927

Atlantic City, N. J., May 11.—(P)—Plans were discussed today at the National Radio Trade association convention for an international radio week in 1927, which Powell Crossley, Jr., chairman of the international test committee of 1926, said he hoped "would not be essentially broadcasting."

This hope was expressed following opposition voiced by Pacific coast delegates to international radio tests which in the past, they claimed, were "mere stunts and without scientific value."

Details of the international radio week in 1927 will be mapped out at a conference called by Crossley for tonight. He hopes to make it more of a world-wide movement for consideration of radio than an international test.

Florida Must Correct Wrongs, Babson Declares

Orlando, Fla., May 11.—(P)—If Florida is to continue its rise to the forefront of the nation as one of the leading states, definite steps toward the correction of several basic wrongs must be taken in an effort to meet the problems that are now facing the state, Roger W. Babson, internationally known statistician and economist, told members of the Orlando realty board here today.

A great real estate slump is now widespread over the state, he said, which was caused by an overproduction of lots of which there were enough to last 25 years, with prices that have eclipsed the values.

Mr. Babson prefaced his talk with the statement that while he may not know Florida but he surely knew the northern investor. According to Mr. Babson the northern investor is ignoring Florida, for the time being, needed at home with their crops.

The statistician declared that advertising had done much for Florida in the past, but the greatest sales boom for Florida has been the "word of mouth" stories that have gone back to the north of the financial success made here. He pointed out that this in turn was hurting Florida by the men who were now returning to the north and telling his tale of woe.

"The great trouble with Florida," Mr. Babson said, "is that it is not self-supporting and it needs northern money to keep it operating. Yet there is nothing radically wrong with the state itself. What is needed to bring Florida to what is destined to be one of the great states of the union is more agricultural production; a harmonizing of prices and values; and the winning of the confidence of the north; and an increased number of permanent residents."

Circuit Court Opens.
Huntsville, Ala., May 11.—(Special).—Judge Ocoola Kyle has convened the May term of circuit court and the docket consists of many civil and criminal cases. ## Wholesale Grocers Are "Talking Turkey" Up In Room 110

SELF SERVICE NIFTY JIFFY GROCERY SYSTEM

Wholesale grocers ten years ago could not be greatly blamed for smiling at the chain store as a menace to their economic life. Today the clear-thinking wholesaler will voluntarily agree that the chain store principle is fundamentally sound—such remarkable successes as the Nifty Jiffy chain has clearly demonstrated that fact.

Up in room 110 at the Biltmore many wholesalers are talking about the chains and how best to meet the acknowledged strength of their attack. They're not discussing the old ideas that have been proved valueless. They're talking over a new thought—the idea of fighting fire with fire.

These wholesalers are examining the wonderfully successful record of the Atlanta Nifty Jiffy chain of grocery stores and are learning that the Nifty Jiffy franchise gives to its owner distinct advantages over every chain store plan now in operation.

Consequently, many wholesalers are acting and securing for themselves the right to do business under the Nifty Jiffy basic patents. In that decision they have arrived at the best—and possibly the only sound plan of meeting the menace of the chain store ever devised. We can convince you of this fact in a few minutes—the evidence you'll find in Room 110.

Aliens in Georgia Gangs May Be Deported Hereafter Through Federal Action

State Officials To Aid in Federal Plans To Deport Aliens After Terms Are Served.

Aliens convicted in Georgia courts and sentenced to terms in the state prison institutions in future probably will be deported as soon as their terms are up, it became known Tuesday.

This is in line with methods followed by the immigration bureau of the federal department of labor in regard to federal prisoners. M. A. Coykendall, district director of the bureau, is ready to arrange for deportation of state prisoners who are subject to deportation, just as at present his department takes charge of similar federal prisoners as soon as prison terms end at the United States penitentiary here.

Judge T. E. Patterson, of the state prison commission, stated Tuesday that his department was willing to cooperate with Mr. Coykendall to the fullest possible extent and will notify him as fully as possible in regard to alien criminals in convict camps or in state prison farms.

Mr. Coykendall pointed out that deportation of criminals or insane aliens will relieve the state of the expense of maintaining them and of the probability of heavy future expense. There are, Mr. Coykendall pointed out, over 16,000 aliens residing in Georgia, according to the 1920 census figures.

Judge Patterson, discussing this subject, said that the vast majority of Georgia's alien residents are business and professional people who rarely get into the courts. "In fact," said Judge Patterson, "though it sounds paradoxical, it is true that Georgia's aliens are among her best citizens."

East Point Schools To Present Minstrel At Russell High

A benefit performance for the schools of East Point will be given at 8 o'clock Saturday night at the Russell High school auditorium by the Black Jack Minstrel company.

The play will be an entertainment of high quality, according to those in charge. There are 21 members of the company and a program of songs, dances and comedy skits will be given. Nine blackface comedians and 9 musicians are members of the company. The affair is being sponsored by the East Point board of education.

HARDMAN TO OPPOSE STATE ROAD BONDS

Dr. L. G. Hardman, of Commerce, who recently announced his candidacy for governor, is opposed to a bond issue of $70,000,000 for construction of roads in Georgia, he declared Tuesday to a statement given The Constitution, in which he outlined his position on the bond question.

In announcing his opposition to the proposed bond issue Dr. Hardman declared that he stands now where he stood in 1924 in opposing a bond issue of $70,000,000 for construction of roads. He said he made public his statement so that his friends throughout the state would know his position on this question.

Following is the statement of Dr. Hardman:

"Many of my friends over the state have requested me to make a public statement as to my position on the bond issue which is now engaging the attention of the people of Georgia. I have been of the opinion that the people of Georgia know my position on the bond issue, which was published in 1924. I opposed the $70,000,000 road bond issue then and I still oppose it.

"It was claimed by some that we could issue these bonds and it would not cost anything, and I made the statement then, and now, that it is not legal to get something for nothing. Further, that it was not wise to put all the eggs in the same nest. Further, I was opposed to one bond issue which would prohibit taking care of all other interests in Georgia. I had hoped that the people of Georgia had reached the stage where we might eliminate issues of this type and look at the state as a whole and on a broad and business-like basis. But in order that my friends over the state may know where I stand I am asking you to make this statement."

Camp Fire Girls Get Venable Lake For Four Weeks

Camp Fire Girls of Atlanta will open a four weeks' summer camp on the new Venable lake on Monday, June 21. The lake is situated one mile from Stone Mountain in the midst of 2,000 acres of beautiful woods. The camp site and a large cottage has been loaned to the girls by Sam Venable and Mrs. Frank Mason. The cottage, which is situated on a hill overlooking the lake, has a large living room with fireplace, four bedrooms and broad verandas on front and side. Tents will be put up in pine woods near the cottage to make accommodations for 60 in camp each week.

The lake will furnish a delightful place for swimming and boating and a swimming instructor, Miss Ivy Loxson, of the University of Georgia, already has been engaged to teach swimming and life-saving. Beautiful trails leading through the woods will be enjoyed by the hikers and nature lovers.

Miss Mary Louise Hollands, Atlanta Camp Fire executive secretary, will be director of the camp and Miss Mildred Cole will act as assistant. Miss Hollands conducted a successful camp for Camp Fire girls last summer at Lake Bennett, Fayetteville.

Girls may register at any time now at Camp Fire headquarters, 214 Wayne-Claughton building, by paying the registration fee of $1. This amount will be applied on the first week's board, but will not be returned if girls fail to go to camp. Girls must sign up for at least a week and are advised to come for two weeks to get the full benefits of camp life. Board will be $7 a week and 50 cents extra is charged as a craft fee to cover expense of utensils needed for craft classes. Miss Helen Haggard has been engaged as handicraft teacher and girls will have an opportunity to learn basketry, tie dying, stenciling and gown decoration. First aid and health will be taught by Miss Beulah Fort, who is a registered nurse now employed at the Joe Brown Junior High school. Miss Fort will be the camp nurse and will have a special room where first aid supplies will be kept and where girls can go for special care.

Negro Migration Subject Discussed At Rotary Meeting

Migration of negroes from rural districts to cities ultimately will prove of "large significance" to southern industry and will be of great value to the negro as an educational force in the opinion of Dr. W. W. Alexander, recent associate of the late John J. Eagan, in working out the "Atlanta plan" of promoting better understanding between races, in a speech delivered Tuesday at the regular meeting of the Atlanta Rotary club.

Dr. Alexander related results of a study he has made of the economic aspects of the migration of the negro to the north. He said this migration has not been wholly to northern cities but it has been a migration from rural sections to cities of both north and south. He said it had not been confined to negroes but declared that there had been almost as high a percentage of white migration.

In discussing the opportunity given negroes in cities to learn skilled trades, he said this ultimately would be of "large significance" to industries located in the south, and that investigation has shown that negroes had been migrating largely to cities containing more than 100,000 population. He pointed out that many negroes in larger cities were acquiring homes and said some owning tended to conservatism. He outlined many other details of the study he has made of this question.

Several visitors to the conventions of the wholesale grocers and hardware dealers were guests of the club Tuesday. Robert S. Parker, president, presided.

RALPH BELL DRAWS ANOTHER PEN TERM

Ralph Bell, a former inmate of the federal penitentiary here, was sentenced to serve another 15 months there by Judge Samuel Stiles, after conviction in federal district court Tuesday for a violation of the narcotic laws.

Bell, it was stated, was caught selling morphine only six days after his release at the completion of his previous sentence. This was about one month ago. The man to whom he was selling the morphine when captured was also an ex-inmate of the penitentiary, having been free only one day at the time.

Typewriter "B" (One leading standard make) 133.3%

33.3% more energy required than for Royal

Typewriter "C" (Another leading standard make) 175.0%

75% more energy required than for Royal

They Do Run Easier

Careful tests made by our own mechanical experts—and the experience of typists all over the world—have clearly demonstrated the fact that Royal Typewriters DO run easier. But we wanted further proof—tests made by an impartial scientific authority.

So we asked our advertising agents to see if these tests could be made by the Mechanical Engineering Department of Carnegie Institute of Technology—whose opinion would be unbiased since they are uninterested in the typewriter business.

Carnegie Institute was asked to buy in the open market one Royal Typewriter and two other leading standard typewriters. Our office in Pittsburgh, from whom the Royal machine was purchased, knew nothing of the purpose for which it was bought. Nor did the companies who sold the other machines.

The Machines Used in This Test Were Just The Same As The Ones You Would Purchase For Your Own Use—no special tuning or adjustments of any sort were made on them.

The tests were impartial—they were made without any member of The Royal Typewriter organization being present—without any conditions or restrictions from us.

The results speak for themselves—and for the Royal Typewriter. We ask you to read the results and compare.

Dorrance, Sullivan & Co., March 20, 1926.
130 West 42nd Street, New York.

Gentlemen:

Acting upon your instructions we purchased three new typewriters in the open market—one Royal Typewriter and two other leading standard makes.

These typewriters were tested without change—except that each was carefully lubricated with the oil furnished by the maker.

Tests were made to determine the amount of force required to perform the routine functions of the typist: to type a legible line; to turn the paper roll with line space lever and move the carriage across from left to right; to operate the shift key.

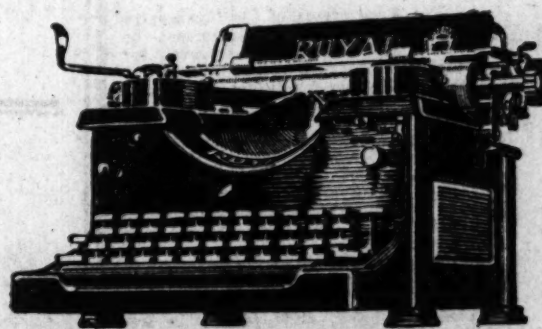

The test results are shown in the above tables. In all cases the energy required for Royal is given as 100%—the energies needed for the other machines are shown in their relation to 100%.

These tests show conclusively that it requires less energy to operate the Royal Typewriter over any given period of time.

It is well to note here certain things about the Royal Typewriter to which it is difficult to give a numerical value, but which were perceptible to the testers: the Royal operated with less noise; the Royal afforded greater visibility of the written work; the type impressions of the Royal were extremely clear cut; and the key action on the Royal was snappier than on either of the others.

Tech Marionettes Offer 'Back-Slapper' This Year

The Tech Marionettes on Friday and Saturday nights at 8:15 o'clock will present "The Back-Slapper" at the Atlanta Woman's club auditorium. Considerable interest is attached to performances of the club and this year's play is expected to draw immense crowds.

Friday night will be "General Patrons" night, and Saturday night the annual "Tech night" will be observed. Fraternities at Georgia Tech have reserved special sections and general college atmosphere will prevail.

The play is a heavier production than is usually given by college dramatic clubs, and is under direction of Joe Duckworth, who played a role in the New York production.

"The Back-Slapper," written by Mann Page and Paul Dickey, is the story of a "half-fellow-well-met," his scheming for a girl of wealth, a delightful love story and many unique complications. Rights to the show have been sold to Metro-Goldwyn for a screen presentation.

Bill Scherffus, Harold Williams and Walter Jones will take leading parts, and incidental music will be furnished on and off the stage by the four fraternity brothers of "The Back-Slapper," the parts being taken by the Marionettes quartet. The scene is in a middle-sized southern city.

The first act opens with the love affair between the "Back-Slapper" and the wealthy girl and ends with her acceptance of his offer of marriage. The second act pictures their married life a year later, the love affairs of the "Back-Slapper," who has become a politician, and closes with a scene in a roadhouse where a noted bathing beauty has met the "Back-Slapper."

The final act completely exposes the character of the "Back-Slapper" and he is divorced by his wife, who later marries her former lover. The entire play is fraught with intense interest and with the reputation acquired by the Marionettes by previous stage presentations, the show promises to attract a large crowd.

Guests Invited To Aerial Tea In Plane Flight

Twenty guests will be entertained at Atlanta's first "aerial tea" several thousand feet above the city Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock when Mrs. Roscoe Turner, noted air pilot, plays the role of hostess in an air plane piloted by her husband, it was announced Tuesday by Paul H. Franke, personal superintendent of the Davison-Paxon-Stokes company in affiliation with R. H. Macy & Co. of New York.

Among the guests who will attend this social affair which is one of the first of its kind ever attempted in the history of aviation, will be officials of the Davison-Paxon-Stokes store, their wives and prominent Atlanta newspapermen and their wives.

Tea and toast will be principal items on the menu to be served in the latest style by Captain Leon, of the Baltimore hotel. Guests will be seated in the big plane which can carry as many as 22 passengers, and will enjoy the social affair of this nature ever given in the south.

Arrangements have been made for serving as if the party were being given in one of the dining rooms of one of the fashionable homes of Atlanta. Tea trays, cups, saucers, spoons, sugar bowls and napkins will be used in the service.

Guests at the tea party will include Colonel and Mrs. Frederic J. Paxon, Mr. and Mrs. Beaumont Davison, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Brunmark, Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Franke, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. The bureau which operates as a connection of the Atlanta Community Chest and the United States department of labor, gives its service free to employer and employee.

HOKE SMITH SCHOOL GETS $14,500 FUND

Hoke Smith Junior High school will get lockers, desks, laboratory and other equipment costing about $14,500, according to a ruling Tuesday of the Atlanta board of education.

The board slashed about $3,500 recommended by the buildings and grounds committee for the appropriation.

Commissioner W. C. Slate led the fight for the appropriation, contending that many of the articles "must be filled by contract and every effort should be made to place the school in operation by next fall." The board adopted the request after cutting that part which does not have to be manufactured by contract.

The board also authorized payment of a bill of $315 rendered for a recent audit of books of the school department.

Uniform Sidetrack
For All Railroads
Will Be Proposed

Representatives of trunk line railroads and short line railroads in Georgia will prepare a uniform contract to cover building of sidetracks to industries which will be submitted to the state public service commission for consideration at a hearing to be held June 1, it was announced Tuesday by James A. Perry, chairman of the commission.

A hearing on this question was scheduled for Tuesday but before it began Chairman Perry suggested that railroads prepare the new contract which could be discussed at a conference with shippers to be held June 1.

Chairman Perry declared that the commission is not committed to any policy in this case but suggested that the carriers and industries enter into written contracts covering the construction and operation of industrial sidetracks.

Far-sighted cooperation is more and more linking concrete city streets and concrete country roads, making them part of the same system of permanent highways.

Forsyth, Georgia, is only one of many examples where this dual development is helping to bring greater prosperity both to town and to the surrounding country.

Forsyth has thousands of square yards of concrete streets. These connect directly with a through concrete road built by the State Highway Department.

All of this true, even pavement has the firm, rigid, unyielding strength which assures the end of costly paving repairs.

Streets in the Second Unit will be lined by beautiful homes, their handsome architecture blending to perfection with the high, terraced lots and the natural beauties of this matchless property. Every effort is now being bent toward creating a veritable fairyland for homes here—and in one year the Second Unit will be much farther advanced in its development than the splendid First Unit is now.

Twenty-five of the new homes will be under construction within the next thirty days, the others to follow in rapid succession, still maintaining the lofty standards of design and construction which have made Avondale homes a by-word for beauty, sturdiness and completeness—every Avondale home a model home.

Mellon Will Make Debut In Pennsylvania Politics In Pittsburgh Friday Night

Secretary of Treasury Will Make Address in Interest of Renomination of Senator Pepper.

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER.

Washington, May 11.—Having made a success in business and also as secretary of the treasury, Andrew W. Mellon is launching out as a politician. His first appearance in this role is to be in Pittsburgh Friday night when he will ask for the renomination of Senator George Wharton Pepper in the Pennsylvania primaries next Tuesday.

If Mellon puts his candidate across against the other two rivals, Governor Pinchot and Representative Yare, he will be justly regarded as an up and coming young politician. Mellon is just a mere lad of 41 and has a lot to learn about politics, no doubt, but he is known as a hard worker and one who saves his money and with success in the Pennsylvania primaries, he can look forward to an influential career in politics.

Are Backing Pepper.

Mellon and his nephew, W. L. Mellon, have thrown their powerful influence in western Pennsylvania behind Pepper. Friday night Mellon will make the first political speech of his career as the final stunt of the Pepper campaign. He has declared his intention of reviewing Pepper's record in the senate and will, he returns, as vindication of the Coolidge administration. Pepper's campaign managers have publicly declared that Mellon's appearance on the stump makes the issue in the Pennsylvania primary a straight-out question of supporting the Coolidge-Mellon administration. Pepper's opponents say this is a smoke-screen to obscure the senator's somewhat vague attitude on prohibition.

Mellon's active entrance into the Pennsylvania political arena is the most fascinating angle of the situation. Washington has begun to realize that he is not only an adept financier but a canny politician who despises his appearance of being terribly embarrassed and uncertain of himself, knows exactly what he wants and how to get it—and gets it.

Good Pork Barrel.

He has just persuaded congress to turn over its long-undisputed pork barrel to him. Anybody who can talk congress out of its pork barrel can do almost anything politically. Congress a few days ago voted to give Mellon authority over a $165,000,000 public building fund and relinquished its historic right to say where the fine big postoffice building should be located. For generations trading in building appropriations was one of the leading industries among congressmen seeking reelection.

If Pepper wins in the primary, Mellon will take rank as one of the leading political influences in the country. His influence over Coolidge has become a legend, and the strange thing is that Mellon was the one man in the original Harding cabinet who was regarded as a total loss politically. He was a big business man, heavily interested in a string of public utilities, aluminum and previously in distilleries.

His popularity began to grow with the first tax reduction plan and although it was the democratic Garner that went on the statute books, Mellon got credit for it. As he gained in prestige, Pennsylvania torn into factions with no leader able to fill more than one of the shoes left by the gigantic Penrose, turned to Mellon. He isn't much like Penrose. He is a business man, patron of the arts, a shy, secluded figure who ambles home alone to lunch every day and whose chief companion is his daughter, Ailina, whose engagement to David K. E. Bruce has just been announced. He smokes cigars, but not the giant-cracker style usually associated with politicians. He uses little cigarette-sized cigars. He hardly speaks above a whisper. One address to a bankers' convention was 60 words long. He has no noisy anecdotes, no gossip. His arm lacks the strength for the ordinary share of backslapping that falls to the lot of most politicians.

He is not ominously silent like Coolidge. He is just quiet. Coolidge has been running for office all his life. Mellon never has been a candidate for anything except director in corporations he controlled.

Pennsylvania politics provide a wild, turbulent crazy-house for this frail figure with the worried look. But he isn't half as worried about it as the opposition.

Amusements

Keith's Forsyth.

One of the most successful and popular bills of the spring will close today at Keith's Forsyth with last performances this evening. Heading the musical galaxy of entertainers is Jack Norton & Co. in a rollicking farce comedy entitled "Brother Bill," which introduces Lucille Haley and John Haynes. It is good comedy at the expense of "The Sign of the Cross," with the Lyons sisters, and Uli Morelli, Swiss violinist, are seen in a musical revue, while Albert Lee presents "A Royal Guard," a fine bit of gymnastic entertainment. Also two other fine acts.

Loew's Grand.

Ben Marks & Co. in "Apples," a clever musical comedy, written by Herve H. H. in the leading attraction at Loew's Grand theater this week on a vaudeville bill of unusual excellence. Every act on the bill is pleasing. The musical production is a miniature musical comedy offered by 10 people, six of them girls, and is full of clever comedy and pretty songs. Si Williams and Bob Robinson present a funny skit entitled "The Wrong Impression." Jack Housh, American tenor, and Miss Marie Patri appear in a musical program of song numbers and other acts. The picture is "Skinner's Dress Suit," with Reginald Denney.

Howard Theater.

As an outstanding attraction in its diversified program of entertainment, the Howard theater is presenting this week "The Garden of Girls," a revue conceived, composed and staged by Gus Edwards. This is the latest in a series of revues which Mr. Edwards will produce for Public theaters under an arrangement similar to that with John Murray Anderson, who produced "The Melting Pot," "The Dime Museum" and other revues which have been seen at the Howard within the past few weeks.

Eyes and throats, hands and hearts are called into play by "The Cohens and Kellys," the Universal Jewel which opened at the Howard Monday. Eyes with which to cry; throats with which to laugh; hands to clench and hearts to beat over the love affairs of a charming young couple. Such are the results produced by this interesting, happy picture.

The Rialto.

"Watch Your Wife," the feature of the Rialto theater this week starring Pat O'Malley and Virginia Valli in a new sort of picture, is supplemented on the list of entertainment by the fifth lesson in the Charleston, in which Arthur Murray introduces several new and intricate steps.

"Watch Your Wife" takes the spectator behind the scenes of home life of every day and reveals things there as they really are. The picture is featured by much really good comedy. Feminine admirers of Virginia will be enthusiastic over the gowns she wears.

West End Theater.

Jackie Coogan does a leap for life which is described as one of the most amusing stunts ever filmed in his latest feature, "Circus Days," playing today at the West End theater. It is declared to be the most elaborate motion picture dealing with a circus story ever filmed.

In the story Jackie sells refreshments at the circus until he accidentally jumps to the front as the star clown of the show. Jackie also figures in a romance with a tiny questionaire, his leading lady being little Peaches Jackson.

The Metropolitan.

A new ramp comes to the screen in the person of Dolores del Rio, famed Castilian beauty, in "High Steppers," playing at the Metropolitan theater this week. Senator Thea Del Rio is one of the richest society girls in Mexico. Because of her aristocratic connections, great difficulty was experienced in obtaining her services.

"High Steppers" is based on Sir Philip Gibbs' novel, "Heirs Apparent." The story contains a bold theory in regard to the jazz mad living of our present day youth. Mary Astor and Lloyd Hughes have the featured roles, that of the boy and girl, who come to the conclusion that stepping on firm ground is infinitely better in the long run than high stepping.

Four Graceful Girl Dancers Win Second Flight In Charleston Tournament Before Large Crowd

First flight winners in The Constitution-Public Charleston beauty tournament are, reading from left to right: Miss Nellie Kincaid (Miss Birmingham), Miss Thelma Edgar, Miss Mamie Swartz and Miss Margaret Mooring. Three of these also won in the second flight Tuesday night.

Second flight of The Constitution-Public Charleston beauty tournament, packed the Howard theater to the doors Tuesday night. The great crowd applauded ten girls who danced the dizzy Charleston and many in the audience declared this exhibition of the terpsichorean art the most graceful and talented display of amateur dancing ever seen in Atlanta.

Three of the four girls who won the first flight Monday night were chosen again Tuesday night. The four winners Tuesday were Miss Trinx Jackson, Miss Margaret Mooring, Miss Mamie Swartz and Miss Nellie Kincaid, the last known as Miss Birmingham, Alabama's champion beauty.

Atlanta entrants in the contest stated Tuesday that Miss Birmingham will have to do "some stepping" before she can take first honors in the Georgia dancing.

Those who danced for the crowded Howard house Tuesday night included, beside the four winners: Misses Sadie Koplin, Thelma Edgar, Mildred Whitman, Ellen Crawford, Beulah Leavens and Marion Hull. These six tripped a variety of pretty steps which brought prolonged applause from the audience. At times it was difficult to judge which of the ten young dancers was receiving the most vociferous ovation.

The four winning girls will dance tonight with other girls who have entered.

The contest is being staged by Miss Georgia Snow, the original Charleston girl. Miss Snow, herself, gives an exhibition dance at the end of each of the nightly contests. She is an Atlanta girl who has won an enviable position in vaudeville as a dancer. She began dancing in Atlanta several years ago and originated all the Charleston steps she uses in her act. She is a daughter of Dr. Joseph Bradford, formerly of Atlanta and now living in Birmingham.

The winner of The Constitution-Public contest will receive a 12 week engagement with the John Murray Anderson production of "Charleston," to be staged in New York the week of June 13. A tour of twelve cities in which Public theaters are located will follow the New York engagement. The production will be shown in Atlanta the week of September 5.

Second prize in the contest is $100 in gold. Third prize is $50 in gold and fourth prize is a three months' pass to the Howard theater. All girls between 16 and 25 years of age are eligible to enter.

Brazil Insists On Council Seat In World League

Geneva, May 11.—(P)—With Geneva's thoughts already directed toward the League of Nations preparatory disarmament conference by the arrival of Hugh S. Gibson, American delegate to the meeting, the disarmament problem was injected into the discussions of the commission on reorganization of the league council today by Senor Montarroyos, Brazilian, delegate.

Senor Montarroyos declared the assumption that only big military powers have the right to be permanent members of the council only encouraged competition in armaments.

Addressing the reorganization committee, Senor Montarroyos advocated permanent and non-permanent members championing Brazil's claim to a permanent seat on the council. He insisted that the permanent did not limit permanent members to the so-called big powers and that if the term "big powers" meant great military powers then a permanent seat was being placed on armaments, since the intermediate nations would be incited to strengthen themselves in a military sense in order to be eligible to a permanent place on the council. "It will mean an armament race worse than that of 1914 and will imperil the disarmament conference," he declared.

Vigorous as was the Brazilian's argument, however, some league circles found it conciliatory in one sense, because he admitted the necessity of immediate solution of the league crisis and practically committed Brazil to acceptance of a system whereby all members of the council would be elected by the league assembly.

Revival in Druid Hills.

Large crowds are attending revival services at the Druid Hills Presbyterian church, under the leadership of Rev. Ben R. Lacy, Jr., pastor of the Central Presbyterian church. Tuesday night's service was attended by an unusually large crowd. Services will continue every night at 7:30 o'clock during the week, except Saturday.

NICHOLSON SPEAKS TO KIWANIS CLUB

A "Mother's Day Program" featured the regular weekly luncheon of the Kiwanis club Tuesday at 12:30 o'clock. An interesting musical program also was given by well-known musicians, including several numbers by Mrs. Charles Downman and Enrico Leide, leader of the Metropolitan orchestra.

H. B. Nicholson, local attorney with the Nu-Grape company, was principal speaker at the luncheon. Mr. Nicholson spoke on the subject, "Mother's Day." John Westmore, in charge of the program.

It was one of the largest attendances of the year, officials of the Kiwanis club stated. A large number of delegates attending the American Wholesale Grocers' association convention were present.

Enrico Leide, presents "Song of the Flame" as the overture.

81 Theater.

Salem T. Whitney and J. Homer Tuit will feature the "Non-Sense" company at the 81 theater Friday night at the midnight frolic for white people only. This couple made its initial appearance here last May and hence needs no introduction to the Atlanta theatergoers.

Ida Forsythe, billed as the "World's Champion Russian Dancer," will offer several reasons why she is billed thus. Mr. Charles Hawkins and Clarence Nance are also featured as leading comedians of the show.

Nona Marshall and her Bronze Beauty chorus will act in their official capacity as high-class entertainers and will add quite a bit to the success of the "Non-Sense" company. Tickets are on sale at the theater and at Chess' Place at Five Points. The usual moderate prices are in effect.

SANITARY BODY SWATS 'SKEETER'

A war to prevent recurrence of the mosquito invasion this year was launched Tuesday at a meeting of the sanitary committee of city council, when Dr. J. S. Kennedy, head of the health department, was empowered to begin at once to make preparations to stem a second threatened "crop of the pests."

This action followed a report of Colonel L. A. Prince, of the health department at Washington, who has made a survey of Atlanta's needs in this field with Dr. Kennedy. He declared that the only permanent solution of the problem is the closing of all sewers, prevention of pollution of streams and proper drainage, but that temporary relief may be obtained by proper oiling of streams.

A fund of $10,000 has been appropriated by council to fight the menace of malaria and typhoid which mosquitoes bring. This is double the amount used last year.

A solution of crude oil, kerosene and creosote, a product of creosote, will be applied to sawdust and placed in the 60 miles of streams within Atlanta and its environs. A squad under the direction of A. T. Fuller will do the work.

"It has been estimated that Atlanta spent $100,000 last year in buying machines to keep away mosquitoes," Dr. Kennedy said, "and if the city with even half this amount of money can prevent breeding of the pests, then we will save money, health conditions of the citizens will be better and comfort will be increased. We intend to bend every energy in our power to keep down breeding of insects this summer. Colonel Prince has given us many valuable suggestions and we are going to put as many of them into practice as is feasible and as our funds will permit."

Instant Hot Water

REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

No Matches No Running Down Stairs

No Waiting for Hot Water

Expect these benefits from Crane "instant hot water"

WITH the Premier or Keystone, piping hot water under full pressure is always ready to flow at the turn of any faucet. Automatic, insulated, storage types, you need not run downstairs to light them. No matches needed. No waiting while water heats. Nor is it necessary to turn off the gas.

The water always stays hot and ready for use in the big insulated tank, as in a giant "Thermos" bottle. Only when you draw off quantities large enough to reduce the temperature eight to twelve degrees, does the thrifty burner light, automatically. As soon as the tankful is 135° again, the thermostat turns it out. Most of the heat value in the gas goes into the water and stays there.

Not only does the design of Crane heaters give this constant economy, but their materials and workmanship insure long, useful life.

CUNARD SERVICE IS MAINTAINED

Loading of passengers and cargo from Cunard steamships at British ports is proceeding regularly and without delay or untoward incident, despite the general strike now on in England, according to a cablegram received Tuesday by J. ## FIRE INSURANCE RATES RAISED IN SOUTHEAST

An increase of from 15 to 25 per cent in the insurance rates on several classes of property in all southeastern states will go into effect May 15, according to an announcement Tuesday. Increases were promulgated several days ago at a meeting of the Southeastern Underwriters' association at Pinehurst, N. C., and bulletins to this effect have been sent to all agents in Georgia.

No reason for the increase is stated in the bulletin but it is understood that fire insurance companies composing the Southeastern Underwriters' association have had increases under consideration for some time, the contention being advanced that the fire loss ratio throughout the southeast made the premium income insufficient and inadequate.

All insurance companies, except those conducted as mutual companies, are included in the association, it is stated.

A 25 per cent increase is provided in the final rates on all classes of risks listed below except those of fire-resistive construction and those equipped with an approved system of automatic sprinklers:

Agricultural implement works (having any woodworkings); asbestos works, automobile garages (frame), bag factories (paper and cotton cloth), barytes works, barns and stables (livery and sale), batting mills, boarding houses, candy factories, cement mills (brick and frame only), canning factories (cottonseed oil mills (all units), cotton ginneries, crescenting works, dry kilns (redrying not connected with saw mill risks), earth grinding works, fertilizer risks (all classes), fertilizer stocks, (retence credit for co-insurance 50 per cent), flour mills, filler plants, feed mills, Fuller's earth works, furniture factories, graphite works, hotels (frame), Kautlin works, knitting mills, lumber yard (retail, unprotected), marble works, mattress and excelsior factories, metal works (having any woodworkings), mica mills, paint and varnish and color works, pens and overall factories, paper bag factories, peanut oil mills, pine product plants, stone crushing and stone works, talc works, tanneries (all units), tobacco barns (country), tobacco, cigars and cigarette factories, tobacco warehouses (ordinary brick and frame—unprotected—not open side sheds or superior constructed brick frame houses), tobacco prizeries, stammeries and rehanding (frame)—protected and unprotected, woodworking risks (light).

MUSIC CLUB SEEKS 1,000 SUSTAINING MEMBERS IN CITY

Hatcher, president.

Sustaining membership in the club has been opened to the public on a nominal yearly basis of $15 which entitles the member to choice of seats and admission to all musical events presented by the club during the year without additional charge. The concert series is to be even more imposing than last year when Paderewski, Glinka-Curci and eight other figures of world note were presented here.

The membership campaign has been carried on quietly for two weeks and is to close before the morning program Wednesday, May 19, at the Woman's club auditorium, which is the last of the club's musical entertainments of the 1925-1926 season.

Sheaffer Pen Company Sends Novel Exhibit Automobile to Atlanta for Stay of 10 Days

Photograph above shows the exhibit car of the Sheaffer Pen company which arrived in Atlanta Tuesday for a stay of ten days. The car is in charge of O. R. Johnston and attracted unusual interest in downtown sections, upon its arrival here from New Orleans.

Something unique is the monster display car of the W. A. Schaeffer Pen company which arrived in Atlanta this week, to remain for 10 days. It will make stands in different parts of the business section. It is a traveling display room, mounted on a White chassis and luxuriously furnished and is in charge of O. R. Johnston, accompanied by Mrs. Johnston.

Starting from Fort Madison, Iowa, home of the Schaeffer pen, the novel car has traveled more than 4,500 miles through Iowa, Indiana, Arkansas, Tennessee, Mississippi, Louisiana and Florida. The car and the interesting display on the inside are attracting hundreds daily. It is stationed at Edgewood avenue and Pryor street.

In addition to the display of the celebrated Schaeffer pens and pencils, the car contains cases showing the processes in the manufacture of fountain pen points from the time the gold is obtained from the mine to the completed product. The interior of the tapestry car is done in dark blue tapestry with clusters of incandescent lights in the ceiling, electric fans and a heater. Extending the full length of the display room are plate glass show cases, also electrically lighted and filled with their merchandise. At both ends of this room are plate glass doors for the entrance of visitors. The exterior sides are solid aluminum with plate glass windows, the whole body being done in a soft green color with appropriate lettering on the sides.

Those in charge take pleasure in showing their line, explaining the process of the manufacture of their pens and pencils, presenting each visitor with a sample of "Strip," their successor to ink, a writing fluid manufactured and sold by this company.

No goods are sold or orders taken from the car, the advertising being solely for the benefit of local dealers whose names are posted in the car. This unique way of advertising is the idea of W. A. Schaeffer, president of the company.

The Schaeffer company, with the wisdom of years of successful merchandising, doesn't rely altogether upon this unique form of advertising but follows it up with intensive newspaper campaigns.

HOSPITAL AUXILIARY WILL MEET FRIDAY

A meeting of the woman's auxiliary of the Georgia Baptist hospital will be held at 10:30 o'clock Friday morning. Mrs. James L. Key, president, announced Tuesday. The meeting will be held in the hospital parlor.

STATE OFFICERS INSPECT W. & A.

Members of the Georgia public service commission will leave Atlanta at 9 o'clock this morning for Chattanooga over the tracks of the Western & Atlantic railroad on their annual inspection of this state-owned property, which is under lease to the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis railroad.

In Chattanooga the officials will visit the site of the proposed extension of Broad street by the city of Chattanooga, and also will investigate the amount of damage done recently when city officials endeavored to open this street through the state-owned property by destroying several buildings.

At present the litigation between the state of Georgia and the city of Chattanooga over the opening of this street is pending before the supreme court of Tennessee. Attorney General George M. Napier stated Tuesday that the state had filed its brief in the supreme court in answer to the contention of attorneys for the city of Chattanooga that the court of appeals of Tennessee has jurisdiction in the case, instead of the supreme court, which granted a writ of supersedeas last Friday which halted the city from further steps toward opening the street.

Attorney General Napier declared that he expected a decision from the supreme court of Tennessee in the case Friday or Saturday. He said if the supreme court holds that the court of appeals has jurisdiction in the case it will simply mean the transfer of the case from the higher court to the court of appeals.

Atlantans have invested more than $650,000.00 in

Beautiful Garden Hills

IN THE HEART OF ATLANTA'S FINEST RESIDENTIAL SECTION

LESS than one year ago, Garden Hills was a vision in the minds of a group of Atlanta's business and civic leaders, who saw in its exquisite natural beauty, its incomparable location, and its accessibility, the basis of the greatest residential development in Atlanta's history.

One year ago, its two hundred acres of broad, rolling hills (the last available large tract of land running through from Peachtree Road to Piedmont Avenue) were still timbered with virgin forests—untouched by surveyor's chain or workman's shovel.

Today, scarcely one year after it was first offered to the public, Garden Hills has received the emphatic and overwhelming endorsement of Atlantans. Its success has been the real estate sensation of the year.

In one year Atlantans have invested more than $650,000 in this property. The tremendous stamp of approval becomes even more impressive when it is realized that only one section—the Peachtree Road unit—was open and for sale during most of this period.

Now, with the beautiful Country Club section and Brentwood section open, sales are going forward at a faster rate than ever. In the past six weeks, sales in Garden Hills have broken all records. At their present rate, the property will be completely sold out this year. But if Garden Hills was a good buy a year ago or a month ago, it is a far greater value today—for, in spite of all the improvements, water, sewerage, lights, wide paved streets, sidewalks—completed over the entire Peachtree Road section and being rapidly rushed to completion in the Country Club and Brentwood sections—the original, pre-development prices have not been advanced one penny by the Garden Hills Corporation.

Today you can buy lots and estate sites in Garden Hills—with all of their guaranteed improvements, their adequate restrictions, and Garden Hills' wonderful beautification plans—at less than nearby property is being sold for.

If you are a dissatisfied rent payer who has determined this year to own your own home, or if you are an investor who is seeking a safe, sure profit for your home, investigate these facts about Garden Hills.

Read This True Story of the Increase in Values Just Across the Street from

Thirty-five years ago Ezra Smith, a farmer living on Peachtree Street near Andrews Drive, leased on his rail fence and looked across the muddy road to a farm, part of which is now known as the former Andrews home.

"One hundred dollars an acre is too high a price for that land," named Farmer Smith. "Atlanta will never grow out this far."

Fifteen years later—in 1906—George W. Collier sold to Mrs. Walter P. Andrews 35 acres of that farm for $23,595, or at the rate of $655 an acre, as shown by the records of the Atlanta Title & Trust Company.

About two years ago Mrs. Andrews traded that property to the Massell Realty Company for the latter's lease on the former Governor's Mansion site.

A week ago the Massell Realty Company sold an irregular portion of that erstwhile farm in the apex of the junction of Peachtree Road and Andrews Drive at the rate of $30,000 AN ACRE! Upon this a $1,000,000 apartment hotel will be built.

(From an Editorial in the Atlanta Georgian, issue of April 29, 1926)

This property is directly across the street from the entrance to Garden Hills. With property within a hundred yards of this wonderful development selling for $30,000 an acre, you don't have to be a mathematician to figure out the profit you've made the day you buy a Garden Hills lot.

To the Home-BUILDER GARDEN HILLS Offers:

Building sites in the very heart of the finest residential section of Atlanta. High wooded lots on paved boulevards, easily accessible to Atlanta by two splendid highways. Within three minutes of fine schools and a modern shopping center. It offers a community life that has an atmosphere of refinement and neighborliness.

It offers wide, beautiful, permanent parks, brooks, trees, playgrounds for children, a private swimming pool, tennis courts—everything that makes life worth living.

And it offers the site for your home among these surroundings, at prices that are less than you would be asked to pay anywhere near it on the North-side, and no more than you would be asked to pay in undesirable and uncongenial sections of Atlanta. Think of buying a high wooded lot in the heart of Atlanta's fashionable North-side—right where you've always wanted to live—at prices lower than you had ever expected to pay. Yet that is what you can do in Garden Hills.

To the Investor GARDEN HILLS Offers:

The last chance to participate in a big North-side development—similar to Ansley Park—that is available running through from Peachtree Road to Piedmont Avenue.

It offers lots that are admittedly under-priced, in a section where property is in greater demand than in any other part of Atlanta.

It offers lots in the center of Atlanta's northward growth—squarely between Peachtree Road and Piedmont Avenue.

It offers a long history of quick, satisfactory profits that have been made in North-side property—that are being made today all around it.

Garden Hills offers Investors lots for 15% cash and the balance over five years. That means that if Garden Hills lots only advance 15% in value the first year, the Investor makes 100% on the actual cash he puts up. Where can you find a greater return for your money?

It is on the basis of these facts that Atlantans have invested $650,000 in less than a year, in Garden Hills.

Prices must advance in the very near future. The very lot you want for your home may be sold today. That is why we urge you to investigate Garden Hills now. We want you and you alone to be the sole judge and jury of its merits.

So that you can have first-hand information on prices and details of the size of lots, we have established a down-town office at 197 Peachtree Street. The telephone number is WALnut 5701. If you will call that number, a courteous representative will be detailed to show you the property. Or if you prefer—

Grocers' Convention Hears Trade Problems Discussed

Reports of officials and committees on problems affecting trade featured the opening session Tuesday of the American Wholesale Grocers' association at the Biltmore hotel. Reports of the secretary and of legislative, merchandise methods, traffic, delivery cost, trade ethics, trade relations, better salesmanship, conference, education, publicity and simplified practice committees and of the board of directors and executive committees were heard.

The secretary reported that the association was "in wholesome condition and better qualified than ever to go forward bravely in the service to the food trade interests of the country."

The legislative committee reported that there were two bills of major importance to wholesale grocers still pending in congress, the Wadsworth-Williams bill and the Capper-Kelly bill.

"It will take real work to pass them," the committee pointed out, "and they are very essential."

The committee advocated correspondence with congressmen, senators and state representatives by grocers in all legislative matters.

Trade Practices Considered.

Leading work done by the association, according to the report of the merchandising methods committee, was its campaign against the practice of drop shipments. Many other trade practices were dealt with in the report.

The traffic committee urged grocers to keep accurate cost records in order to know where they are coming out at the end of the year. The traffic relations committee pointed out that it was being given fullest cooperation by every department of the federal government with which the association comes in contact.

The convention is being presided over by President J. H. McLaurin, of Washington, D. C. This is the 34th annual convention, and more than 1,500 are in attendance. A feature of the session was the president's address, dealing with present-day problems of national food distribution. The speaker asserted that the food industry was in a more chaotic condition than at any time during the past sixteen years.

"The wholesale grocer today is indispensable as a factor in food distribution," he said. "I maintain that it is only through the long-established, economically-proven system that present unfavorable conditions can be eliminated."

In concluding, the president commended unethical and unfair practices of all kinds in the food industry and expressed optimism for the cooperation of manufacturer and jobber.

Napier Welcomes Delegates.

Attorney General George M. Napier of Georgia welcomed delegates on behalf of the state, and Mayor Walter A. Sims of Atlanta, President McLaurin responded.

Vice President J. H. Mosel, of Steubenville, Ohio, presided over the session Tuesday afternoon, which was given over to intimate discussion of problems confronting the association. Discussion of "The Status of Real Estate," was led by Edgar Watkins, of following this, "Drop Shipments Recaptured," was discussed.

A musical program, featuring by negro spirituals sung by Big Bethel choir, was a high light of the session at dinner at the Biltmore hotel Tuesday night.

An address by Edgar Watkins, prominent Atlanta attorney and counsel for the Wholesale Grocers' association, will feature the second day business session today. Mr. Watkins will speak on legal problems of the industry and will explain in detail the future of attempting to cure economic ills by legislation. He will show that the so-called "anti-trust" laws generally result in hampering the smaller business but merely annoy larger business concerns, it is announced.

Other Speakers.

Other speakers representing five national business organizations, slated to make brief addresses this morning are: Claude Sharp, of Little Rock, Ark., sixth vice president; John G. Sheehan, president of the National Association of Retail Grocers; Luman R. Wing, Jr., president of the National Food Brokers' association; Elmer E. Chase, president of the National Canners' association, and P. D. Brisley, president of the American Grocery Specialty Manufacturers' association.

This afternoon the delegates will be guested on an automobile ride to Stone Mountain and over the city's residential sections. Raley Brothers, Inc., will be hosts to the convention tonight at an elaborate musical revue and dance at the Biltmore hotel. The convention will close Friday at noon.

ROYAL PINES OPENING ATTRACTS HUNDREDS

With hundreds of Atlantans turned away on opening Tuesday, the Atlanta office of the Royal Pines Development company at 191 Peachtree street will continue open today. All visitors will be entertained during today and Thursday, officials of the office announced Tuesday.

Concerts by the Royal Pines orchestra were well attended on Tuesday. The famous orchestra and quartet will continue to give two concerts daily, Thursday and Friday.

Afternoon concerts last from 2 until 4 o'clock; night exercises start at 7:30 o'clock and run through 9:30 o'clock.

Dancing will be both at the afternoon and night concerts and all women visitors will be presented with flower souvenirs.

POLICEMAN MOON'S BROTHER IS DEAD

News of the death of J. B. Moon, 65-year-old planter of Millstead, who died Tuesday, was received in Atlanta Tuesday night by B. E. Moon, member of the Atlanta police department and brother of the Millstead farmer. Although he had been in failing health for some time, the death of Mr. Moon came as a shock to members of his family and a wide circle of friends. Several weeks ago he was stricken with apoplexy. His condition had not been considered serious until just before his death.

Mr. Moon is survived by his wife, five sons, J. H. C., Elmer B. B., and W. A. Moon; his mother, Mrs. J. P. Moon, all of Millstead; three brothers, B. E. Moon, of Atlanta; R. M. Moon, of O'Fallon, and A. A. Moon, of Milledgeville, Ga., and three sisters, Mrs. B. B. Wallace, of Hollywood, Fla.; Mrs. E. H. Dorsey, of Millstead, and Mrs. P. M. Berry, of Conyers, Ga.

Funeral services have not been announced.

HARDWARE MEN HEAR SALES TALKS

Merchandising plans and sales help suggestions featured principal addresses at the annual convention of the Southeastern Retail Hardware and Implement association at the Auditorium Tuesday. W. J. Dress, of the New York Knife company, and Llew Soule, of Hardware Age, were speakers. The meeting was presided over by J. W. Baker, president of the Alabama Retail Hardware and Implement association.

The report of Walter Harlan, secretary-treasurer of the Southeastern association, showed that the organization is in a flourishing condition, and proved most interesting to the delegates.

"Use your show windows to display the goods which you wish to sell," said Mr. Dress, who substituted on the program for Charles E. Catlin, of the Remington Arms company, New York, who found himself unable to attend.

Mr. Dress dwelt upon various display methods which he had seen utilized to advantage by hardware dealers in various parts of the country. Likewise he advised the hardware dealer of the store as attractively as possible.

Show Windows Useful.

The department stores and chain stores have built much of their enormous volume on the artistic dressing of their show windows, he declared, and he urged that the dealers study their display methods and profit by the lesson.

"It is a well-known fact that when a merchant has a line of goods which is not moving out as rapidly as he thinks it should, the tendency is to shove such goods on the back of the shelf, or otherwise put it out of sight. But this is a natural tendency, so often acted upon, it is exactly the wrong thing to do. It is human nature to buy what you can see, if the price is right and the article suited for your needs. Take advantage of the quick of human nature and instead of hiding your slow movers, display them as prominently as possible. Then, if they do not move, put a relative price on them and advertise it. The result will surprise you."

Mr. Soule, in discussing "The Hardware Merchant's Competition, Present and Future," painted a picture of the encroachment of other lines of merchandising upon the hardware trade and predicted that if the hardware dealers did not combine in the future, they would be forced out of business.

He pointed out the rapid increase of the "peddling" system, with salesmen going from door to door and selling to housewives, and told how business men of all classes in many parts of the nation have combined this evil. The best way to accomplish this end, he said, was by education of the public. The local merchant, with his well-established business reputation, stands behind the goods he sells and guarantees satisfaction to his customer. On the other hand, the door-to-door peddler often talks "guarantee" but seldom can be located to adjust troubles or service the goods he has sold.

Booths Are Visited.

An excellent question box session in which several of the dealers advanced matters for discussion, was a feature of the morning session. The entire afternoon was given over to the exhibitors, many of the dealers visiting the booths, looking at and placing orders.

The day's entertainment features were varied. In the afternoon the visiting women made a trip to Stone Mountain. In the afternoon there were a number of informal theater parties. Tuesday night an excellent program was presented, the numbers including several well-known local artists, as well as the 25-piece mandolin club of M. Rich Brothers & Company. White refreshments were being served the floor cleared and dancing was begun. This feature lasted until after midnight.

The program for today, the final day, includes addresses at the morning meeting by M. R. Veal, of Dover, Ohio, and George M. Gray, of Coshocton, Ohio, reports of convention committees and the election and installation of officers. The convention attendance prizes will be awarded at 2:30 this afternoon.

LUMBER PLANT FIRE CAUSES $50,000 LOSS

Macon, Ga., May 11.—(P)—Fire which burned practically all Monday night and part of Tuesday, destroyed the plant and lumber yards of the Clinchfield Lumber company, seven miles from Perry.

The loss has been estimated at $50,000, partially covered by insurance. The fire originated in a building used for the storage of lumber and spread to the sawmill, the boiler house and onto the yards.

Employees of the company were unable to fight as the hydraulic water pump used there broke and they were unable to get any water. Two cars that had been loaded were also burned, as were two frame houses.

CREDIT ASSOCIATION REELECTS OFFICERS

J. H. Sutton was reelected president of the Atlanta Association of Credit men at the annual meeting and election of officers Tuesday night. Other officers reelected at the meeting were: W. C. Lovejoy, first vice president; George O. Jones, second vice president; C. E. Allen, treasurer, and C. L. Williamson, secretary.

New members elected to the board of directors are: E. S. Collinsworth, H. D. Carter, H. E. Moody, T. L. Hoshall and J. T. Laster.

"Whoso Sells—Must Know," a business playlet, was enacted by the interchange bureau committee, composed of George O. Jones, J. F. Hudson and L. C. Huff.

Financial statement of the year's activities was read and approved, showing about $40,000 dollars spent last year in service to members through the several departments. Report of the information department was read by P. M. Williams, chairman, showing that the department has increased its membership and facilities to serve. Report of the adjustment department was made by W. C. Lovejoy, chairman, showing that the association is doing constructive work through this department.

H. D. Carter, chairman of the credit protection committee, stated that the raising of the million and a half dollars by the national association, in which Atlanta had a part, to combat credit crime, would have a deterrent effect on credit crooks. Under the operation of this fund several cases have been handled in the past 10 months resulting in convictions, and others are pending.

Speeches were made by President Sutton and Secretary Williamson. Mr. Williamson outlined the plans and purposes of the association for the coming year, looking toward increased usefulness to members, the city and the state.

HOSPITALS TO KEEP OPEN HOUSE TODAY

All hospitals in Atlanta will keep open house today in observance of National Hospital Day. Dr. Russell Oppenheimer, superintendent of the Wesley Memorial hospital and chairman of the committee on arrangements for Georgia, announced Tuesday.

The observance was inaugurated last year by the National Hospital association to give the general public one day in the year to visit hospitals in their localities.

SCHOOL OFFICIALS GET PAY INCREASES

Salaries of H. Reid Hunter and Miss Mary Postell, assistant superintendent of schools, were increased $400 annually, bringing the total of each to $4,000 annually at the time of their reelection Tuesday by the Atlanta board of education at the meeting. This increase in salaries becomes effective July 1.

The action on the part of the board followed a recommendation by Superintendent Willis A. Sutton, who asked that the salary be fixed at $4,800 annually. The figure of $4,000 fixed by the vote of the board, was a compromise.

R. B. Ritchie, assistant superintendent of schools in charge of business affairs, whose hearing on charges of "arbitrary, arbitrary and inefficient operation" of his department is still pending, was not re-nominated, pending outcome of the trial. His salary is $4,800 annually and Mr. Sutton asked that all assistants be paid the same amount.

In recommending the increase in salary for the two assistants, Mr. Sutton praised the work of Mr. Hunter and Miss Postell, declaring that they "are most efficient and conscientious in the discharge of their duties."

An effort to place R. M. Enloe, director of the visual education department, on the recent wage increase scale with a raise of approximately $200 annually, failed when Dr. R. M. Eubanks, president of the board, cast the deciding ballot, which tied the vote, thus killing the attempt.

Mr. Hunter will not be allowed to teach classes for a six-weeks period at the University of Georgia summer school this year, according to a vote of the board. It was held that the school official is entitled to four weeks vacation, but that an extension of that time breaks into the vacations of others and, therefore, is unfair to those who are thereby inconvenienced.

The "Fulton Follies" will be the first entertainment presented on the big, new stage at Lakewood.

BOARD TO CONSIDER SCHOOL PROJECTS

All matters pertaining to proposed new school buildings and equipment for which funds will be provided out of the recent bond issue, carrying an allocation of $3,500,000 for school purposes, will be considered at a special meeting of the board of education to be held Friday, May 21, at the Walker Street school, according to a decision of the board at its regular monthly meeting Tuesday.

A resolution offered by Dr. R. M. Eubanks, president of the board, providing for the erection of a new opportunity school on the site of the old Girls' High school on Mitchell and Washington streets, was deferred until that date. Requests of delegations asking new buildings for South Whiteford Avenue and Ormeau Park were also deferred until then.

Dr. Eubanks' resolution calls for the cooperation of the city and county with the state board of vocational education in the construction, operation and maintenance of a large new vocational building for the Opportunity school which "will house four times as many students as are now being taught at the school at Mitchell and Broad streets with an outlay of less than the city is now spending for the present institution."

This proposal has the endorsement of the Atlanta Federation of Labor and other organizations, and "would not involve the expenditure of any of the bond money," according to Dr. Eubanks.

HENRY GRADY CLUB WILL BE ORGANIZED THIS AFTERNOON

A selected company of the associates and admirers of Henry Woodfin Grady, Atlanta's famous editor and orator, will meet this afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Henry Grady hotel to form the Henry Grady club.

The object of this new organization will be to review the active and optimistic spirit of which Grady was the conspicuous exemplar. It is essentially the spirit of faith in Atlanta and pride in forwarding her morale, culture and patriotism. There is no club in the city that embodies definitely the altruism and unselfish cooperation that Grady urged and practiced.

The responses to the club's invitation have been numerous from the first citizens of the city, presaging that the club will exert large influence and obtain national fame.

BREAU STARTS $100,000 DRIVE AT GAINESVILLE

Gainesville, Ga., May 11.—(Special.)—A parade of the student body and 100 business men through principal streets of the city today marked the opening of the local campaign to obtain $100,000 for the Breau college endowment fund.

Provided the Gainesville campaign is successful, one-half the $500,000 endowment will be subscribed. Five hundred girls of the college, grouped in teams of 50, carried huge banners in the parade and campaign leaders hope to obtain the quota by the end of the week. Several days ago the student body and faculty contributed $20,000 in a campus campaign.

In addressing the workers at a banquet Monday night, Chancellor Charles M. Shelling urged all north Georgia to concentrate upon the success of the campaign. He announced when the local drive is over the remainder will be sought in a national alumnae campaign this fall.

The college was organized 40 years ago as the Georgia Baptist seminary, but soon passed into private ownership. Dr. H. J. Pearce developed the school to its present standard and recently decided it to a board of trustees composed of prominent Georgians. As all colleges for women are required to have endowment funds of $500,000 to become full members in the Southern Association of Colleges and Preparatory Schools, the present drive is being waged.

Want Sparkling Teeth, Gums Like Coral?

Here's simple new way to gain them

Please accept full 10-day tube free. Note the great difference in the color of your teeth when dingy film is removed as dentists widely urge. Note the gum firmness

THERE is now a way to restore

"off-color" teeth to clear and sparkling whiteness. A way that firms tender gums and brings them healthy coral tint. Very often one's whole appearance is thus changed amazingly.

Modern dental science has found teeth rarely are naturally clouded or off color. But simply clouded by a dingy film coat that ordinary cleaning methods do not successfully remove.

Send coupon and full 10-day tube of this new method will be sent you. World dental authorities now are widely urging it. It may quickly work a transformation in your smile.

What film is—Dulls teeth, invites gum disorders

Dental science now traces scores of tooth and gum troubles to a film that forms on teeth.

Run your tongue across your teeth and you will feel it—a slippery, viscous coating.

That film absorbs discolorations from food, smoking, etc.

And that is why your teeth look "off color," dingy and unattractive.

It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. It lays your gums open to bacterial attack and your teeth open to decay. Germs by the millions breed in it. They, with tartar, are a chief cause of pyorrhea.

Old ways won't clear it off

Ordinary dentifrices and cleansing won't fight film successfully. Feel for it now with your tongue. Note how your present cleansing method is failing in its duty.

Now new methods are being used. A dentifrice called Pepsodent—different in formula, action and effect from any other known.

Largely on dental advice, the world has turned to this method.

Clears film off Firms the Gums

It accomplishes two important things at once: Removes that film, then firms the gums.

A few days' use will prove its power beyond all doubt.

Send the coupon. Clip it now before you forget.

N. Y. Commish Approves Strib-Berlenbach Title Mix

Atlantan To Get Shot At Light Heavy Crown In New York June 10

Rickard Wins Victory Before Gotham Solons in Getting O. K. for Battle—Stribling Doped To Beat Risko Friday.

New York, May 11.—Tex Rickard held out his hoop Tuesday afternoon and the New York commission jumped through.

The commissioners, who have been having considerable trouble with their decisions of late, ordered Paul Berlenbach, the light-heavyweight champion, to fight Rickard and not to Humbert J. Fugazy until after he had fulfilled his contract with the Texan.

The rival promoters both had contracts bearing the signature of Dan Hickey on behalf of Punishing Paul. According to the contracts, Berlenbach was to fight Stribling at Rickard's outdoor arena, the Yankee stadium, and was also to fight Jack Delaney for Fugazy at Ebbetts field.

The question was: Which would Berlenbach fight first, on the occasion of the defense of his title?

There is only one Rickard in the fight promotion game. The commission decided in Tex's favor without hesitation. They directed the light-heavyweight champion to defend his title on June 10 against another Rickard and selected, Tex produced the signed contract with Fugazy, make the Bridgeport challenger a more generous offer than heretofore, and put on the Delaney-Berlenbach scrap himself.

Well, I got the leaveings," said Fugazy sadly as he left the offices of the boxing solons.

Berlenbach probably will go through with his contract with the Italian promoter and meet Delaney on June 22, provided he comes out of the Stribling affair in good shape.

Meanwhile, the rubber-faced baker's boy from Cleveland, Johnny Risko, may upset the apple cart by flattening Stribling next Friday night. If the Georgia youth took the count before a comparative novice like Risko

G. M. A. BEATS MARIST NINE BY 9-7 SCORE

Gaining an early lead in the game that they maintained throughout, the G. M. A. cadets beat Marist college Tuesday afternoon on the East Point diamond, 9 to 7.

The East Pointers used three pitchers on the mound against the Bean boys who proved too much for the college hitters.

Each team secured eleven safeties but the Marist Cadets did not hit the base hits enough to win runs. The game was tight in the field as the errors were distributed evenly to the opposing nines, four bobbles marked up for each team.

G. M. A. started off with a bang, making three for each of the first two innings, and one in the third. Hilt pitching for Marist tightened in the next three frames and held G. M. A. scoreless but they came back and scored one each in the following stanzas. Marist waited until the second to begin their scoring, making one run in the next three tries at the bat, but failed to tally in the fifth. The seventh saw the Bean boys push another marker across, and again in the eighth. A two-run rally in the last frame was stopped by Jones who had replaced Mott on the mound for G. M. A., thus ending the chances of Marist.

G. M. A. will have their chance at University Wednesday on their own diamond, the cadets will put up a strong battle against the league leaders in an attempt to tie up the standings of the two leading teams Tech High and University.

If the Bluebirds lose this game and Tech High beats Marist the standings of the two nines will be tied and another game will have to be played to decide the championship.

Barons Nose Out Crackers, 7-6, for Second Victory

Late Cracker Rally Short by Single Run; Six Hurlers in Game

Otto Merz and Markle, Starting Hurlers, Badly Battered—Niehoff Suspension Lifted, Gets Back in Lineup.

BY ROY E. WHITE.

Although the third ladies' day of the season was observed at Spiller field Tuesday, the Crackers failed to be inspired by the presence of the fair sex and lost the second ball game of the series to Birmingham by a 7-to-6 score. It marked the third consecutive defeat for the locals.

Manager Niehoff, who was suspended last Saturday by John D. Martin, president of the league, resumed play Tuesday afternoon, after his suspension had been lifted by the league head, but even his presence in the game was not enough to keep the Crackers ahead of the Barons.

Both teams played in-and-out ball Tuesday and there were few features except for a home run by Grant Gillis, Barons shortstop, and another by Leo Durocher, Cracker shortstop. Gillis' homer into the negro stands in the sixth was the blow that tied the count, after which Birmingham forged into the lead in the same inning, never to be overtaken.

Durocher's homer came in the second after two men were out. It was a terrific drive that sailed over West's head in deep center field. Durocher hit another one in the eighth inning for three bases and scored when Gansel threw wild to second trying to head him off, after he had passed the bag and was on his way to third base. It was a drive that hit just inside the right field foul line and bounded onto the bank.

Many Hurlers Used. It was another great day for the pitchers to parade, and six, three on each side, took a workout on the mound. Otto Merz, who ordinarily beats the Crackers single-handed, started for the Barons, but Tuesday was no day for the veteran, and he was yanked in the second inning with two men out. He was nicked for a total of five hits and four runs, and was unsteady. Stone, a southpaw, relieved him, but he was all wrong too. And Judd, a recruit right-hander who has been used as a relief pitcher in 10 games this year, finished. After Judd took the game in hand it was three up and three down for the Crackers with the exception of the eighth inning, when one run was scored on Durocher's triple and Gansel's wild throw.

Cliff Markle started for the locals, but after giving up 10 hits and 7 runs and walking five men, he was yanked in the seventh. Merritt relieved Markle, but gave way to a pinch hitter in the eighth inning and Love finished the game.

Mule Haas, Cracker center fielder, Bill Watson and Leo Durocher were the stars for the locals. Haas contributed two singles that scored runs, had four putouts, and one assist. Two of his putouts were made after long runs and robbed Birmingham batsmen of extra base clouts. Watson handled seven chances nicely and secured a double as his share. Durocher's hitting featured.

Barons Start Early. In addition to the good pitching of Judd, Conroy, West, Yaryan and Gillis played leading roles in the Baron victory.

Conroy, with a double, two singles, an infield out and a walk, was the hitting star. West was credited with two hits out of three trips to the plate and Yaryan had two singles out of four tries, while Gillis secured a home run as his share in the victory. Birmingham started the scoring in the first inning on Markle's error, West's walk, Gansel's sacrifice and Conroy's single that scored two runners. Two more were added in the third. West doubled to start. Gansel grounded out but Conroy scored. Durocher doubled, scoring West. After Chapman went out, Scheepers singled to left and Conroy scored. Two more runs were counted by Birmingham in the sixth inning. Gillis belted one into the left field stands for a home run. Judd grounded out. Martin singled to center and stole second, from whence he scored on Gansel's single. The final tally that sent Markle to the showers came in the seventh inning.

Durocher Belts One. Walks to Smith and Good, followed by Haas' single, accounted for the first Cracker score in the first inning. Three more were shoved across the plate in the second after two men were out. Durocher knocked a home run over West's head to start the rally. Markle singled, Watson doubled and Markle scored. Smith singled to score Watson. In the fourth inning, Markle walked, went to second on Chapman's error on Watson's grounder, and scored on Haas' single after Smith had fled out and Good was safe on a fielder's choice. The final run came in the eighth inning when Durocher tripled and scored on Gansel's wild throw.

Today's game winds up the series.

ACTION! ACTION! ACTION!

The top one of these remarkable action pictures taken at the game between Birmingham and the Crackers Tuesday shows Martin, Birmingham outfielder, as he laid down a safe bunt in front of the plate. The ball is seen just as it was leaving the bat. Brock, Cracker catcher, and Umpire Johnson are standing behind the plate. The lower picture shows Watson, new Cracker infielder, as he tagged Conroy out as the Baron fielder started his slide into third base. Durocher, Cracker shortstop, is seen backing Watson up on the play.

WOP, MALLARD MIX TONIGHT AT FORT MAC

The Walloping Wop, the boxing pride of Fort Thomas, Ky., will battle the Kid Mallard of Fort McPherson tonight in the main event of the fight show to be offered at the Fort theater. Special seats have been reserved for fans from Atlanta. The first bout will start at 8:30 o'clock. The Wop, who once served at Fort McPherson, is a handy sort of chap with the mitts and he will make things interesting for Mallard. The main event is booked to go a 10-round limit, but there is a good chance of it being abruptly ended by a knockout.

Insurance against lagging moments in any of the fights is offered in soldier boxers being pitted in each bout, in the semi-windup and prelims the opponents will be Atlanta scrappers.

K. O. Moore, who almost beat Larry Avera sometime ago, meets Kid Taylor of Atlanta, in the six-round semi-windup. Moore is a welterweight with a great punch and if Taylor is not careful he will wind up a kayo victim. Kid Karet, well known to Atlanta fans for his fights at the auditorium a couple of years ago, has been matched with V. C. Stone, middleweight, the Adonis of the ring, in a six-round preliminary bout.

The show will open with a six-round battle between Kid Pride, of Fort McPherson, and Eddie Harris, of Atlanta.

The preliminary bouts for the show were arranged by Billy Lota, well-known Atlanta fight promoter, who has been in the fight business for many years and he has matched a fine bunch of battlers.

Umpires, Johnson and Campbell. Time of game, 2:10.

Facts about Atlanta

The National Industrial Conference prepared a series of tables covering fluctuation in living costs for 13 cities for 1917 price levels. Atlanta prices in 1917 were third from the lowest of the 13 cities considered. Atlanta's average increase over 1917 costs was the lowest increase of the group. By years Atlanta's cost of living has exceeded 1917 by 19.7% in 1918, by 37.9% in 1919, by 38.5% in 1920, by 18.7% in 1921, by 15.1% in 1922, by 15.9% in 1923, and by 14.9% in 1924. The 13 cities show an average increase of 19.2%. Despite general increases in the average retail price of staple food, items will not exceed a 16% increase over 1917 Atlanta costs. Since 1921 the retail price of food in Atlanta has been from 5% to 8.9% below the 1917 level.

*****

Atlantans buy their foods from 1,800 grocers, 325 meat markets, 36 delicatessen stores, 32 bakers, 34 fruit stores and we can eat in 176 restaurants and hotels. Their efficient management helps keep the cost of living down—the standard up—in Atlanta.

*****

Fifteen department stores, 92 dry goods stores, 24 modistes, 2 furriers, 56 haberdashers, 78 men's clothing stores, 76 merchant tailors, 36 milliners, 46 women's wear specialty shops, 76 tobacco stores, 225 confectioners, 18 florists, 78 passenger automobile agencies, 96 auto accessory stores, 78 tire agencies and 119 public garages.

Two hundred and seventy druggists, 42 electrical stores, 66 furniture stores, 56 hardware stores, 62 jewelers, 16 opticians, 18 musical instrument firms, 32 radio stores—these and other Atlanta firms all serve Atlanta.

*****

Atlanta is the largest live stock center in the South, handling more than $18,000,000 worth of animals annually.

It costs less to live in Atlanta

---and always has

ATLANTANS live well. They enjoy life. They have more for the luxuries, for sport, for culture, for self-improvement, for investment.

Atlanta's lower cost of living makes all this possible for its alert citizenship. Food costs less in Atlanta, calorie for calorie, than in the average American city. Rents, clothing values, hundreds of things are less costly for equal value in Atlanta than in most cities---large or small.

Atlanta's 1,800 keen-minded grocers, and Atlanta's alert retail merchants have helped make this possible by wise buying, by selling backed by service. Atlanta's wholesale grocery, produce, fruit and meat establishments have helped. Atlanta's strategic position as a distributing center for all merchandise has aided.

The index of living cost prepared by the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics rank Atlanta below the average for the United States—a position which has been held year in and year out.

During the ten-year period ending with December, 1924, the cost of living was always below the average for the United States.

The average cost of living for the United States, according to figures derived from the same source, is 8.1% greater than for Atlanta. Purchases for necessities which could be made in Atlanta for $100.00 would cost $133.80 in Seattle, $127.60 in Detroit, $118.80 in Birmingham, $115.70 in Buffalo, $114.30 in Memphis or $110.40 in Philadelphia.

These savings which Atlantans make on the necessities of life, on rent, on clothing, on their whole list of essential buying makes possible a higher standard of living. This means that for equal incomes Atlantans are better dressed, live in better houses, can fill the market basket without scrimping and still have ample funds for savings, investments, books, automobiles, opera, movies—everything that makes life real—that marks living off from mere existence.

Interesting and beautiful weddings will center the attention of Atlanta society today, while members of the college set are enthused over the affairs attendant upon graduating exercises and the regular week-end. The marriage of Miss Juliet Crenshaw and Charles Thiot Winship will be a beautiful event taking place at 6:30 o'clock, the twilight hour, at the First Methodist church, at which will assemble a large number of society and out-of-town visitors. At 4 o'clock this afternoon Miss Marion Elizabeth Morgan and Thomas Ernest Lucy, Jr., will be united in marriage at the home of the bride on Ponce de Leon avenue, the occasion to be marked by unusual beauty. Another lovely wedding ceremony will be that of Miss Lucille Woodley Shippen and the Rev. John Monroe Shingler, of Grover, S. C., which will be solemnized at 6 o'clock at the First Baptist church in Decatur.

The Buccan club of Washington seminary will be entertained this afternoon by the Misses Mary and Gertrude Askew at their home on Peachtree road. The midweek dance at Hotel Biltmore will gather a number of the younger social contingent this evening, while the college set will attend the formal dance tonight at the Druid Hills golf club, at which the Sigma and Omega chapters of the K. D. K. fraternity of the University and Tech High schools will be hosts.

And to the Boulevard Park Pharmacy, which generously offered a location for the school.

Mrs. Branham Elected Kirkwood League President.

Mrs. A. I. Branham was unanimously elected president of the Kirkwood Civic league at the May meeting held last week. She succeeds Mrs. Kate Green Hess, who has served so capably as president since last August, and under whose regime great constructive work has been achieved.

Miss Nellie Emery gave a report on the state federation convention held in April in Augusta. Mrs. Branham, chairman of the department of American citizenship, reported two civic contests in progress, one for business concerns of the twelfth ward, which will contest for a loving cup offered by Mrs. Hess through the divisions of the civic and industrial committee of the league, for the concern maintaining the best civic conditions in and around the plant during the coming year; the other is a contest between the different sections of Kirkwood, as to civic improvement this spring, the contest ending with May. Two prizes are offered by Mrs. Branham, one for the section showing the most improvements, the other for an individual prize. She also reported the progress of the special committee on beautifying the Dixie highway at Georgia railroad crossing, with Mrs. Hess, chairman. Sewers have been extended, all ditches covered and a park bordered with hedges, planted with evergreens and flowering shrubs have been laid out around the crossing; 20 memorial trees have been planted directly on the highway and 11 trees, 15 tall evergreens and 20 running roses have been planted as a background to hide unsightly things, thus beautifying the entrance to Kirkwood at this place.

Including these, Mrs. L. Z. Casella, forestry chairman, reports 518 trees, 352 shrubs, 51 roses and 23 bulbs planted and reported to the league since last October. Mrs. Hess reported to the civic chairman on work done at crossings; further, that $108.50 has been expended so far, $145 of which has been collected from donations promised. Those donating so far are: Kirkwood Civic league, $25; the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company, $15; Atlantic Ice and Coal company, $25; the Consumers' Ice company, $25; Evans & Harpe filling station, $10; Dr. Walter B. Emery, $25; Dr. Archer, of Sutherland pharmacy, $5; R. Allen Rinder, $5; Mrs. Vernon Shearer, $5; Kirkwood Parent-Teacher association, $25; Cassels & Fleming, $10. Under the department of public welfare, Mrs. E. H. Bell reported several visits to hospitals and invited the members of the league to go with her on visits to Grady hospital. Mrs. Casella reported that the newly family under her care was being supplied with all necessities. It was voted to send Miss Hancock, county nurse, $20 to help keep a young girl who once lived in Kirkwood in school this year. The chair appointed a committee composed of Mrs. Branham, Mrs. Murphy and Mrs. Bell to search the back records of the league in a further effort in ascertaining whether the league has ever paid anything on the Ella F. White Memorial fund and to report at the June meeting.

Mrs. Jack Makes Report. Mrs. J. L. Jack, chairman of the nominating committee, made the following recommendations which were unanimously accepted and the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. A. I. Branham; first vice president, Mrs. Joseph Smith; second vice president, Mrs. W. L. Hunnicutt; secretary, Mrs. R. S. Goulden; treasurer, Mrs. J. L. Murphy; section vice presidents, N. E. section, Mrs. Price Suddarth; S. W. section, Mrs. Oscar Spurrell; S. W. section, Mrs. Paul Wilcox; S. E. section, Mrs. Walter Stewart. Mrs. Kate Green Hess, the retiring president, then read her report as follows: "After being elected in August of 1935 to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. E. W. Camp, one parliamentary drill has been given you by Miss Rosa Woodberry, under the American citizenship department. The league has purchased a portable organ for open air concerts and the enjoyment of the community in the Beattie Branham park, which was used by the churches in midsummer union prayer meeting.

"The children of Kirkwood have been taught basket weaving and the league has sponsored two interior decorating classes recently. Mayor Sims and council members were given a rousing welcome and entertainment in the park by the league and the whole twelfth ward. In December the league assisted the merchants of the ward in an industrial display and parade. The annual bazaar was held in December also and the proceeds added to the clubhouse fund. A building lot has been bought and paid for this club year and they hold the concession in the park. Several prizes have been offered. Mrs. Branham offered a prize for the best Christmas story which was won by Miss Ina Norman. The play was then produced by the league and brought a neat little sum. Mrs. Hess offered a loving cup to the business concern in the ward keeping their premises in the best condition. Mrs. Branham has offered another prize to citizens of the different sections to stimulate civic pride."

Mrs. Van Harlingen Gives Lovely Tea. Mrs. W. W. Gray and Miss Agnes Gray, the guests of Mrs. Alex Smith, Sr., at her home in the Ponce de Leon apartments, were honored by Mrs. J. M. Van Harlingen at a lovely informal tea Tuesday afternoon at the Piedmont Driving club.

The tea table was beautifully appointed. Covers were laid for 18 friends of the honoree and hostess.

Agnes Scott Commencement Program Announced Today

The commencement program of Agnes Scott college will be featured by a tea given by the members of the sophomore class in compliance to the seniors Friday afternoon, May 14.

Council Meeting.

Thursday afternoon, May 20, the annual alumnae council meeting will be held at 3 o'clock. Friday, May 21, the annual meeting of the board of trustees takes place, and the seniors will be honored at luncheon by the sophomores.

Music Pupils Presented in Joint Recital.

The first of a series of recitals at the Barill School of Music was given on Saturday afternoon when Miss Margaret Nelson, soprano, and Mrs. J. L. Feldman, pianist, were presented in a program that was delightful as it was varied.

Miss Nelson, a young singer whose carefully trained voice shows perfect placement, was heard to advantage in the numbers chosen. Her program included: "The Lotus Flower," "Moonlight" and "Dedication," by Schumann; two songs by MacDowell; an old Breton song arranged by Deems Taylor; a romance by Debussy, and a group of songs by Cyril Scott, all of which she gave in delightful manner, with real musical feeling.

Mrs. Feldman, playing with the ease and sureness that characterize students of the relaxed weight technique, gave an admirable rendition of the Paderewski minuet; the Scotch poem of MacDowell, and the waltz in C sharp minor of Chopin. Mrs. Feldman's performance was warmly received, more so that she had stepped readily into the breach at the eleventh hour to take the place of Miss Elizabeth Phillips, another student who had been announced to play but was prevented by sudden illness.

The next recital, Saturday, May 15, will present Miss Mary Guinn, contralto, and Miss Frances Hatcher, pianist.

Blackbird Play.

One of the most interesting features of the commencement program at Agnes Scott will be the annual Blackbird play. Last year, it will be remembered, three one-act plays were given with striking success. The year before, "Midsummer Night's Dream" was excellently presented. This year an entirely different theme will appear in "Twined," by Booth Tarkington, which will be given Saturday, May 22, in the college auditorium at 8:30 o'clock. "Twined" shows Tarkington at the height of his ability to entertain and amuse, and its appearance offers an opportunity for an evening of pleasure for all who are present. Admission 50 and 75 cents.

CAN EAT CABBAGE, MEAT, ANYTHING NOW

When the food we eat is not properly acted on by the liver and stomach and, as a result, the waste products are not eliminated from the system as they should be, we suffer often from such symptoms as dizziness, fainting-spells, various pains and aches, and no food agrees with us. Such was the experience of Mr. Claud Crane, Cedar Bluff, Ala., who says: "It is about four or five years ago, since I got down sick. For a while I just dragged along, feeling like I couldn't lift my feet. Then I began having weak, fainting spells, and such a queer feeling in my breast. I would fall, and couldn't get up for a long time. I felt like everything was slipping from under me. Then I would have a pain in my side, or chest, like gas pains. I couldn't eat any fruit or anything heavy. I ate some cabbage and it most killed me. On the light food

I had to eat, to keep off these fainting spells, I just couldn't do a day's work. I tried remedies for a year or more, but couldn't see that I got any better. One day, my brother said: 'Why don't you take Theford's Black-Draught?' I tried it. I commenced with small doses, after meals, and found it was helping me. I ate a little more at meal-time, then a little heavier, keeping up the Black-Draught all the time. I took it for about a year. Now, I can eat meat or anything, and it never gives me any trouble. I am strong and well. I just take Black-Draught occasionally now."

The use of Theford's Black-Draught has given relief in many similar cases, with symptoms like those described by Mr. Crane. Costs only one cent a dose. Sold everywhere.

Mrs. Price-Smith Is Honored By Woman's Club

Mrs. W. B. Price-Smith, after 18 years of loyalty and devotion as a member of the Atlanta Woman's Club, was significantly honored by being unanimously elected as president of this cultural and prominent organization at the annual meeting Monday afternoon. ### In the Days of Our Forefathers

When America was young, the wise pioneer women learned to gather, in woods and fields, the remedies the Indians used. From the rafters of colonial houses hung great bunches of dried roots and herbs. From these, in times of sickness, the busy mother brewed remedies for her family.

From roots and herbs, Lydia E. Pinkham, a descendant of these sturdy pioneers, made her Vegetable Compound. For more than half a century this dependable medicine has been taken by women with very satisfactory results.

If it has helped other women, why shouldn't it help you?—(adv.)

SEARCH CONTINUES FOR WILLIAM WARD

New York, May 11.—(P)—Search by the police, including Broadway night clubs and a call at headquarters by Ralph Ward and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Walter S. Ward, marked the sixth day of the disappearance of the Police Captain Ayers, of the missing persons bureau, said members of the Ward family had made a full report of the disappearance but that this included nothing helpful to the police.

Ralph reiterated that he believed his brother had met violence, denying rumors that Walter might have "planted" his wrecked automobile and left the country because of financial or other difficulties.

DANDRUFF?

Bottle Bacilli, the cause of Dandruff. Illustration reproduced from Hagan's "Diseases of the Skin." C. V. Mosby, Publisher.

Dandruff is a disease difficult to cure, but easy to check. Unless checked and properly treated it has a persistent tendency to reappear, and often in more virulent form, with possible loss of hair or even total baldness. The treatment to check dandruff requires constant cleanliness and the use of a suitable antiseptic solution to combat the disease and to heal the scalp.

Don't neglect it!

DANDRUFF is a danger signal. If you have it you should do something about it.

Perhaps you never knew it before, but dandruff is a germ disease. It spreads by infection from personal contact, as with the common use of combs and brushes. Children, for instance, are never troubled with dandruff until actually infected by some contact.

Dandruff is a disease difficult to cure but easy to check. It has a tendency to reappear, unless properly treated, and often brings with it the possible loss of hair or actual baldness.

The ideal treatment to combat dandruff conditions is the systematic use of Listerine, the safe antiseptic.

We have received hundreds of unsolicited letters from Listerine users, who are most enthusiastic in their claims for what Listerine will do in this way. If you are troubled with dandruff you owe it to yourself to try it.

The use of Listerine for dandruff is not complicated. You simply douse it on your scalp, full strength, and massage thoroughly. The effect is antiseptic, cleansing and healing. And you will be amazed to see how this treatment, followed systematically, combats dandruff.

Moreover, Listerine will not discolor the hair nor will it stain fabrics.

Not only men but women have become devoted users of Listerine for this purpose—women, particularly, since bobbed hair has been in vogue and has made them more conscious of dandruff if it happened to be present.

Try Listerine some evening when your scalp feels tired and itchy. Dandruff is probably causing the trouble. Apply it generously and then massage vigorously. You will find it a stimulating tonic for the scalp, and in addition to combating dandruff, you will find that it adds that luster and softness to the hair that is so important a part of being well-groomed.

The Law of the Talon

By Louis Tracy

REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

SYNOPSIS.
Jim Parke, Hudson Bay company agent at Moose Lake, is greatly disturbed by a news item in an English paper announcing the coming marriage of Alastair Spenser Pantan to Eileen Grant and referring to the prospective groom as the heir presumptive to Lord Oban, whose only son, John Bridgnorth Pantan, disappeared some years before and whose death is about to be presumed by law. Parke decides to leave Moose Lake and go back to England.

INSTALLMENT III. JIM HITS THE TRAIL.

Thenceforth, during a strenuous couple of hours, that outlying post of the Hudson Bay company was a scene of industry. Stores were checked and vouchers initiated until Mosquito Joe announced that he was prepared to hand over to Parke's permanent successor such and such quantities of pelts and goods. Markwa, of course, stoic and fatalist, simply did as he was told. At last, long before noon, the three men shouldered the belongings of the outgoing assistant agent, and made for the canoe, still moored to its rock.

It was not for the half breed or the Indian to question the decision of a white man who represented the all powerful company. They knew nothing of the torment in his soul which had ended as suddenly as it began. Indeed, living as they on the very border line of actuality, they might have scoffed had they known why their "boss," as they called him, had changed his mind so quickly. One minute, while the Indian was crossing the threshold of the hut, Jim Parke was all for ignoring the existence of the Hon. John Bridgnorth Pantan, yet the next, when Markwa retreated, he was even more definitely committed to the tribulations, which unquestionably awaited the return of his other self to civilized life.

And why was this? Simply because, in the effort to collect his wits after having scared away the Siwash with Macbeth's despairing cry, he had turned to glance at a calendar hanging on the wall merely to verify the date and make sure that there still was time to take effective action in behalf of that which he valued far more than his threatened inheritance—the happiness of a girl whose memory was the only fragment of a broken career.

The calendar, one of those rather crude productions spread broadcast by a missionary society, showed a month on a page and gave a biblical text for each day. This outcast from his fellow man prized it because by marking every date he could keep track of time. Not often did he trouble to read the accompanying text now, in the effort to concentrate on the problem which had thrust upon him so unexpected-edly, he read and reread the printed words. Yes, without doubt this was "Wednesday, June 3." For no assignable reason—probably a haphazard choice of the compiler's—the text assigned thereto was "Save me!" from the first verse of the seventy-first Psalm.

He took the words as a veritable appeal from Eileen Grant, the delightful child of sixteen whom he had last seen standing disconsolate on a windswept corrie in Inverness. Surely it was worth while to suffer that she should be rescued. The text, the date, the coming of the newspaper, these things seemed to constitute a direct message from heaven itself, a command permitting of no dubiety, no faltering. From that instant he would follow the open road of duty, no matter whither it led. He did not know what was to be done now he should act. "Get busy!" was the password of Canada. It should serve now, if ever.

So while the Indian packed the canoe with due regard to the distribution of weight Jim Parke glanced around at the smiling solitude which had given him a home during nearly five years. Existence had not been altogether unhappy there. A man had to fight to live, but the effort was worth while. Would he ever see Moose Lake again? It was hard to say. He had hidden what seemed to be an eternal farewell to scenes far dearer, yet the whirligig of time was bringing him back to them. Perhaps it might be so with the far flung territory of northern Alberta. It had given him sanctuary once. It might be willing to shelter him a second time.

He stepped into the canoe after a farewell handshake with Mosquito Joe, and was sitting on his heels in the stern, paddle in hand, when the dog sprang in after him.

Here, then, was the first real difficulty of many he would be called on to tackle in the near future—what was to become of Spot?

The pair eyed each other, the one doubtful, the other sedate and confident. And, of course, the one which knew its own mind won.

"Yes," said the man. "You come right along, pup! I can't claim a heap of friends in this world, and it'll feel good to have a real pal handy when the trouble begins."

Parke and the Siwash beached the canoe at Bison Pool, the nearest substation, on the Thursday evening. Including seven portages, one of nearly a mile, when canoe and baggage had to be carried in two journeys, they had done sixty miles in a day and a half, mostly upstream in the rivers, and helped only by an occasional lake.

The sub-agent at Bison Pool disapproved strongly of Mosquito Joe as even a temporary deputy at Moose Lake. He refused to appoint a substitute, referring Parke to a higher official at Athabasca, this being the time honored expedient known all over the North American continent as "passing the buck." However, he made amends by supplying a couple of horses early next morning, and to carry the traveler and the other his belongings. Thence a made trail, soon developing into a road, led to Athabasca, into which small but progressive backwoods town the weary cavalcade walked late on the Sunday.

Spot had to be carried ingloriously over the last forty miles. His paws, injured to ice and snow and rock and brushwood, could not withstand the constant friction of a hard road. His distress was pathetic. His pride was hurt. Not yet did he realize that he was beginning a new life.

He recovered his normal good spirits, however, when he limped after his master into the spacious hall of a hotel, the gathering ground nightly of nearly every man in the place, and an enterprising chow, seeing his condition, dashed forward to an easy victory. Parke had some difficulty in rescuing the chow alive, and forthwith refused offers for Spot rising from five dollars to thirty. It might have been an instance of sound common sense had he sold the dog then to some one who would treat him well, but common sense was not, in the free speech of the northwest, "Parke's long suit." Spot and he had started together on a strange quest; they might even end together, whatever happened, they would not be separated by barter.

The telegraph office was closed for the night, but that did not matter greatly, since a full week began next day. Parke, after greasing Spot's paws, spent the best part of an hour in composing a cablegram. In its final form it read:

"Lord Mountford, President, Probate Court, London. Regarding your decision in Oban peerage case April 28. John Bridgnorth Pantan is alive and now on way home from northern Alberta. Will cable you again before sailing. John Bridgnorth Pantan."

It was of set purpose that he introduced his full name twice. The risk of mutilation was reduced thereby almost to zero. That was a trick he had learned while dealing with messages transmitted from point to point along the western front.

Luckily, the Moose Lake storekeeper difficulty was settled early next morning, a man keen on shooting being ready to step into Parke's shoes for the summer, at any rate. All other matters would be arranged at headquarters in Edmonton, for which amazing place a train was available. By this time Spot had to submit to the indignity of a leash. What between the sight of seeming myriads of dogs and a multiplicity of strange objects such as automobiles, horsed vehicles, and the ever changing crowds in the streets, he was in such a state of stupefaction that he might have been bitten with impunity by a snub nosed Pekinese.

The fast moving train put the crown on the husky's experiences. He simply curled up and went to sleep. Thenceforth he accepted civilization as though it were a blizzard—an annoying thing which had to be endured but which would come to an end some time soon. His master believed afterwards that Spot never really regarded himself as in decent surroundings until he scented grouse and deer on a Scottish moor.

New York, May 11.—(P)—Monday's advances were followed by reactions in the cotton market early today, but after selling off to 17.50, October rallied to 17.64, and closed at 17.62. The general market closed steady at net declines of 3 to 16 points.

The market opened steady 4 points higher to 9 points lower. There was some buying on relatively steady Liverpool cables, but most positions were lower. Considerable selling developed after the call on the outlook for clearing weather in the southwest and a feeling that yesterday's advance had eased the technical position of the market.

Prospects for showers in the eastern belt were considered a favorable factor which probably promoted reselling by buyers of yesterday, and the midday market was rather unsettled. July sold off from 18.04 to 18.42, while December declined from 17.73 to 17.58, active months generally showing net losses of 17 to 22 points.

Trade buying and covering absorbed offerings on a scale down to these figures, however, and the market steadied during the early afternoon on prospects that clearing weather in the

STUDENT DROWNS IN COOPER'S LAKE

William D. Sloan, Jr., 19, a student of the seventh district A. & M. college, at Powder Springs, drowned Tuesday morning in the waters of Cooper's lake.

The boy's death was the tragic ending of the senior class outing, which is held each year at the lake. He would have graduated in a few weeks.

It is believed young Sloan was the victim of cramps. He was seen to sink suddenly while swimming a good distance from shore. Members of the party went to his aid but were too late and a pulmotor proved of no avail.

The ambulance of H. M. Patterson & Son made a record run from the lake which lies between Smyrna and Marietta, to the Davis-Fischer hospital, where further attempts to save the boy's life were unsuccessful.

Young Sloan was a popular student of the school and took an active part in student activities. He was a member of the Lanier Literary society and business manager of the school annual. He also was a member of the Hawkinsville Baptist church.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William D. Sloan, Sr.; three sisters, Mrs. Clarence Shuler of Calhoun, Mrs. A. A. West of Chickamauga and Miss Nell Sloan of Rome, and his brothers, Earl Sloan of Parris Island, McArthur, R. V. Ralph, Archie and Hendrix Sloan.

The body will be taken to Hawkinsville this morning for funeral and interment.

RED CROSS WORKERS SHOWN OVER CITY

With Dr. Sam Small, of The Constitution, and ex-Governor John M. Slaton as guides, more than 75 members of the Junior Red Cross workers, with teachers and chairman, Mrs. Louis J. Elissa, enjoyed an instructive tour of Atlanta Tuesday afternoon.

The tour started at the Red Cross headquarters on Peachtree street early in the afternoon and ended just before midnight after many interesting and historic points of the city were visited.

Dr. Small and Mr. Slaton spoke to the youngsters all along the route, telling of the interesting happenings and points connected with the various places visited.

It was in the nature of a reward to those active Junior Red Cross workers who have attended the council meetings regularly each month and otherwise participated in the various Red Cross activities.

Warburg Kills Cancer Cells In Live Bodies

(Copyright, 1925, by The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)
Berlin, May 11.—Professor Otto Warburg, the eminent cancer specialist, has succeeded in killing cancer cells in living bodies by reducing the supply of oxygen inhaled by the patient.

After studying cancer cells grown in tissue culture, according to the system of Professor Carrell of the Rockefeller Foundation, Professor Warburg established the theory that cancer tumors absorb large quantities of oxygen.

Rats infected with cancer were placed in an atmosphere in which the oxygen was reduced and the cancer tumors disappeared. Professor Warburg is preparing on a big scale and Vienna hospitals to prove the efficacy of his new treatment.

CITY SCHOOLS SEEK COUNTY APPROPRIATION

A committee of the Atlanta board of education will be appointed within a few days to confer with a committee of the Fulton county board of education and Fulton county commissioners with a view of obtaining for city schools part of the $263,000 provided for county schools in a recent increase of the county school tax, according to a rubric of the Atlanta board made yesterday.

This action was taken after Dr. R. M. Eubanks, president, called attention of the board to the fact that recent salary increases have raised obligations of the board $110,000 for this year, and that this will amount to approximately $150,000 next year, and that the finances of the board at this time will not justify these raises without increased revenue.

Commissioners J. O. C. Mills and M. D. Threllet rushed to the support of the salary increase sheet, and asked that "every possible means be taken before the subject of repeal of the increases is even broached."

Commissioner Threllet pointed out that about 91 per cent of the revenue of Fulton county is provided by the city of Atlanta and that the $263,000 increase in revenue to the county from the new school tax is provided to be spent outside the city for the benefit of the county schools.

"I am sure the county will see the justice of our claims to a portion of this tax revenue and will accede to a reasonable proposition, and, therefore, am anxious that a committee from this body take the matter up with proper county officials," Mr. Threllet said.

His suggestion was followed and Dr. Eubanks will appoint a committee to investigate the matter within a short time.
